

SURGEONS MUST GIVE UP PRIVATE PRACTICE TO ATTEND POLICE

Waldo Says He Hasn't Issued Order "Yet," but It Is Expected.

A report became current about Police Headquarters this afternoon that Commissioner Waldo had issued an order to the police surgeons directing them to give up their private practice and devote all their time to the Police Department. The Commissioner, when asked about the report, sent this word by his secretary, Mr. Sheehan: "No such an order has been issued, yet."

There appeared to be a lot of significance in that "yet."

The entire Board of Police Surgeons, numbering twenty-five, was in session at the time in the Headquarters building on the fourth floor.

"We haven't received any such an order yet," said one of the surgeons. "However, we have heard rumors that such an order was on the way."

The police surgeons get $2,500 a year. They are sworn members of the force eligible to retirement with pay under prescribed conditions. About half a dozen could retire now.

Commissioner of Accounts Fossick has recently been investigating the police surgeons. This action was inspired by allegations that policemen willing to pay are retired for physical disability when they are perfectly well and that money considerations have something to do with sick leaves. No proof of these statements has been adduced.

Convict's Bravery in Flood District Wins Him a Pardon.

Because of the bravery shown by Harry Mills, who was among the convicts sent to hold back the swollen river in Mississippi towns, he has been granted a pardon. The superintendent of the convict camp reported Mills as the bravest man he ever saw.

The prisoner was given twenty years at Vicksburg for murder, and had escaped, married in Arkansas and become a father, when rearrested recently and returned to prison.

This Juror Hasn't Returned Whiskers Since Cleveland Campaign.

John B. Crispell of Old Hurley, who is a juror at Kingston N. Y., has hair that reaches his shoulders and whiskers that almost conceal his face.

He said in 1884 that if Blaine did not beat Cleveland he never would again shave or cut his hair, and he has kept his word.

Worcester Is Paying 10 Cents Per 100 for Flies (Dead).

The city officials of Worcester, Mass., have set out to rid the place of flies by paying 10 cents for every 100 dead insects delivered at the city hall.

The Mayor has appointed a fly-extirminating committee of school teachers and most of the slaughter is being done by school children.

WALL STREET.

The stock market pursued a slow dragging downward course following a lower start to-day. Recession was limited to fractions in Union Pacific, Steel and other standard securities, but several inactive features sustained large losses. Canadian Pacific scored a mysterious decline of 23-4 points to 361-4.

Toward the end of the first hour a firmer tone developed and prices generally recuperated their initial losses. The list continued strong in the subsequent dealings.

A mild selling attack against Reading was the feature of the afternoon trading. While the market was inclined toward lethargy, a brief selling drive made against the leading coal share carried the list out of the rut. Reading fell from 15 to 12-5/8. Other issues reacted in sympathy with Reading. United States Rubber fell from 63-4 to 61-1/2, but eventually recorded a partial recovery.

But scant improvement was visible at closing time, the list just about touching the lower range of the day.

ACTIVE SECURITIES.

United States Steel, 35,700 shares; Reading, 15,500 shares; Union Pacific, 15,500 shares; Canadian Pacific, 15,500 shares; and Lumber, 25,700 shares.
